Thinking Differently Through Magic

Interactive Workshop

Ignite your team's innovation and creative problem solving with the proven power of magic and fun.

We tend to get caught in the 'same-think' rut. We approach problems over and over from the same perspective, then wonder why we fail to solve them. That's where Dan Trommater can help.

In this interactive session, Dan creates an environment where thinking shifts out of the ordinary and new solutions are discovered. Because the session is built around your organization's specific challenges, you'll find the solutions best suited to your issues.

As a veteran facilitator and professional magician, Dan is exceptional at helping his clients find new approaches to their pressing challenges. Of course, there is no 'one right answer' for everyone, so Dan's use of magic, optical illusions and focused discussions allow each group to discover the right solutions for their particular situations.
